Master's Degree

Master of Arts in Youth and Community Development

AIM

The Namibian youth development industry is expanding and is receiving priority support from the government and international entities. However, Namibia faces a number of youth development challenges, and such challenges require interventions of qualified and skilled youth development personnel. The demand for qualified personnel is particularly high in the government sectors (Ministries and Departments of Gender, Youth, Health, etc.), community-based organisations (Churches, NGOs, CBOs, etc.). The programme will aid most government and non-governmental projects in new areas, while building and strengthening the assets of young people, and emphasising the strengths, abilities and potential of youth. Hence, the NAMCOL is introducing a specialised qualification at Master programme pitched at NQF level 9 to contribute to increased educational attainment at the stated level.

This programme aims to develop qualified Youth and Community workers who can demonstrate skills for employment and future learning and have attributes valued by employers within the specific youth and community work workforce and wider related settings; this includes the ability to undertake primary research and evaluation into areas of professional practice, using a wide range of approaches and evidence.

OBJECTIVES

The overall objective of the programme is therefore to develop qualified workers who can demonstrate skills for employment and future learning and, have attributes valued by employers within the specific youth and community work workforce and wider related settings; this includes the ability to undertake primary research and evaluation into areas of professional practice, using a wide range of approaches and evidence.

Therefore, the programme is designed to:

- equip students with a sophisticated understanding of the place of social sciences in the professional and applied contexts of youth and community development practices;
- develop questioning, creative intellectuals with competencies to assess and evaluate evolving models of practice and synergies in youth and community work;
- produce youth and community workers with employable knowledge, skills, and values that reflect best and innovative practices in complex situations;

- build professional capacity particularly for the Namibian economy, since there are limited qualified professionals in the field of youth and community development in the country.
